If you have any questions pertaining this information, please contact our Legal & Compliance department at the above mentioned address (with the addressee "Legal & Compliance"), or by sending an email to dataprotection@newre.com.

What kinds of data do we process, for what purposes and on what legal grounds?

We process your contact data (your name and potentially your company) and, depending on the duration of your stay, your fingerprint to manage your visit and access to our company building.

In addition, we may also record your data through video surveillance at and in our office building (particularly at the entrance to the building, fingerprint access points, exterior walls of the building and at the gates/doors to our parking garages) and by accessing our building with your fingerprint or a badge, log data with your name, point of entry (door), date and time of your entry into the building may be recorded.

We exclusively use immovable cameras installed at fixed angles, with no sound recording. We use appropriate signages to identify where areas in or to our office building may come under surveillance.

The video surveillance serves us to protect our legitimate security interests in our property using the necessary security standards. It particularly aims to ensure the safety of our staff, the security of our office building and the material assets within, to monitor access and the workings of our technical plant and equipment, and to detect and prevent technical malfunctions. The recordings may also be used to investigate any offences (e.g. break-ins or wilful property damage).

We process your personal data in compliance with the Swiss Federal Act on Data Protection, the Ordinance to the Federal Act on Data Protection and other applicable laws.

We have state-of-the-art technical and organisational security measures to protect your personal data against accidental or intentional manipulation, loss, destruction, and access by unauthorised parties.

Your personal data will be treated confidentially at all times. Should we wish to process your personal data for any other purpose than those mentioned, we will inform you of this in advance in accordance with the legal requirements.

Who provides us with your data?

Your personal data will either be collected directly from you (e.g. fingerprint) or provided by third parties (e.g. your employer or a NewRe employee registers your visit at our company).

How long will we store your data and who has access to it?

Within our company, only persons that require the data to meet our contractual and legal requirements will receive access to your personal data. We may also use external service providers in certain cases to meet our legal and contractual duties.

We will delete your personal data as soon as it is no longer required for the purposes set out above, which is generally after the last day of your registered visit at NewRe or longer if specifically requested or if required by law. The video recordings in particular are regularly erased after five calendar days, unless events related to the cameras' purpose make it necessary to retain the recordings for a longer period, or to forward them to the police or other authorities.

What privacy rights can you claim as a data subject?

You may request information at the address indicated above about the personal data we have stored under your name. In addition, under certain conditions, you may request that your data be deleted or corrected. You may also have a right to restrict the processing of your data and a right to have the data you have made available disclosed in a standard electronic format.

If we process your data for the purpose of safeguarding legitimate (Group) interests, you may lodge an objection to such processing at the above address, provided your particular situation presents grounds for opposing such data processing. We will then stop the processing, unless we have compelling legitimate grounds not to do so that override your interests, or if processing serves the establishment, exercise or defence of legal claims.

Where processing of your data is based on consent, you have a right to withdraw your consent at any time, without affecting the lawfulness of processing based on consent before its withdrawal.

If you wish to complain, you can contact the Legal & Compliance department mentioned above.
