“ It is a great environment to work in, there is an opportunity to collaborate with and learn from people of all backgrounds who are always willing to share their knowledge and lend a hand, and there is room for you to take on responsibility of your role within the team and ownership of tasks.

Skill development and progression are encouraged, utilizing analytical tools, methods, software and programming with an emphasis on continual research and development.”

Rory Murphy
Data Analytics Graduate

“The Munich Re Graduate Programme has helped me rethink and shape my future.

I had the amazing opportunity to work in the US office, where I worked on projects with major US life insurance companies. Notably, this experience helped me with my communication skills and gave me the skills needed to MC our Global User Summit held in Amsterdam, a far cry from presenting in a lecture hall in college!

The nature of the programme allowed me to work in various departments, broadening my range of skills and understanding of the overall business.”
