Innovative insurance solutions

Public Entities serve as the support systems to the communities where we live and work. Emergency management, public funding, legislative developments, court decisions, administrative rulings, and societal crises present public organizations of all sizes with difficult decisions on how to best address traditionally insurable and emerging risk. We provide resources, creativity and experience to help secure a financially stable and safe future.

Your success is important to us

Public entities are founded on trust and operate in environments contingent upon the support of their communities. With key insight into the risks inherent in public organizations, our risk solutions are cost-effective, flexible and responsive to each organization. For entities interested in retaining risk, we work to resolve exposure to loss and to efficiently finance the remaining risk.
