Creating new solutions for resiliency

In a world challenged by escalating and emerging risks, Munich Re's Strategic Products team has been at the forefront of developing future forward risk management solutions. We continue to leverage extensive expertise, experience, and financial strength to create innovative, industry leading coverage and risk mitigation tools.

Our solutions for both homeowners and businesses focus on prediction, prevention, and protection. We help clients manage the impact of climate change, obtain pioneering flood, wildfire and parametric coverage, and leverage the power of Public-Private Partnerships.

The power of partnership

Our appetite to take on new risks and liabilities is strong – as is our commitment to building teams that can help us deliver tomorrow's solutions today. We collaborate with brokers, clients, regulators, municipalities, and non-profits to develop new business opportunities and create sustainable value through research, new technology, and forward-thinking products.

Why partner with us?

Broad expertise and resources of Munich Re

Strong core capabilities: product development, underwriting, analytics, risk assessment

Experience in designing and testing product enhancements and new technologies

100% reinsurance support for co-developed solutions
