What information about you do we collect and process

Personal Data

Categories of data	Type of information processed	Where the data may come from	Who we may disclose the data to	Purpose of processing	Lawful basis of processing
Individual Information.	Name, address and contact details, including email address and telephone number.	The data mainly comes from yourself.	Your data may be shared internally for the purposes of the recruitment exercise. This includes members of the HR and recruitment team, interviewers involved in the recruitment process, managers in the business area with a vacancy and IT staff if access to the data is necessary for the performance of their roles.	We will need to process your data to enter into a contract with you.	To support your application for an employment contract.
	Details of your qualifications, skills, experience and employment history.	We may collect this data in a variety of ways. For example, data might be contained in application forms, CVs or resumes, obtained from your passport or other identity documents, or collected through interviews or other forms of assessment, including online tests.		In some cases, we need to process data to ensure that we are complying with our legal obligations. For example, it is required to check a successful applicant's eligibility to work in the UK before employment starts.	Processing is necessary for the purposes of obligations conferred by law in connection with employment.
	Information about your current level of remuneration, including benefit entitlements.	We may also collect personal data about you from third parties, such as references supplied by former employers and information from criminal records checks. We will seek information from third parties only once a job offer to you has been made and will inform you in doing so.		If your application for employment is successful and we make you an offer of employment. We will then share your data with former employers to obtain references for you and the Disclosure and Barring Service to obtain necessary criminal records checks.	We may also need to process data from job applicants to respond to and defend against legal claims.
	Information about your entitlement to work in the UK.

Use of Consent to Process Special Categories of Personal Data

We may process your special categories of personal data regarding gender (identity), sexual orientation and neuro diversity based on your consent.

You are under no obligation to disclose the above information. If you choose to do so, then we will require your consent to process this data.

Where you have provided consent for us to process your special categories of personal data, you can withdraw your consent at any time (without any detriment to you) by contacting the Data Protection Officer (details above).

Protection of your information

Your privacy is important to us and we follow strict security and organisational procedures in the processing, storage, destruction and disclosure of your information. This is to prevent unauthorised access or loss of your information.

Data Retention

If your application for employment is unsuccessful, we will hold your data on file for 6 months after the end of the relevant recruitment process. At the end of that period, your data is deleted or destroyed.

If your application for employment is successful, personal data gathered during the recruitment process will be transferred to your personnel file and retained during your employment. The periods for which your data will be held will be provided to you in a new privacy notice.

Transfer of Data

We will not transfer your personal data to any countries that do not provide an adequate level of data protection.

However, your personal data may be disclosed to companies within our Group even if they are located outside the UK or EEA. In all these cases, we ensure that there is a full adequate level of data protection in place and adhered to by these parties.

You can find out the details about any other companies we have shared your personal data with by contacting the Data Protection Officer at the address provided at the top of this privacy notice.

What if you do not provide personal data?

You are under no statutory or contractual obligation to provide data to us during the recruitment process. However, if you do not provide the information, we may not be able to process your application properly or at all.
